

Consideration of preliminary adoption of rules governing procedures for obtaining approval of a project funded in whole or in part by the State that would alter, demolish, or remove a historic site or historic structure owned by the State or a historic site or historic structure that is listed on the National Register or Indiana register; Administrative Cause No. 08-096H

Preliminary adoption by the Natural Resources Commission is recommended, as set forth below, for rules to govern procedures for state agencies which undertake construction projects that are state funded and have the potential to alter, demolish, or remove either a historic site or historic structure owned by the state or a historic site or historic structure that is not owned by the State but is listed in the National Register of Historic Places or the Indiana Register of Historic Sites and Structures. The agencies are to obtain a certificate of approval from the Indiana Historic Preservation Review Board for state-funded projects that adversely impact historic sites or historic structures that are state-owned or listed in the National or Indiana Registers. The substance of the proposed rule has been in effect as a temporary (emergency) rule for a year and has been renewed by Director Carter for a second year, expiring on October 2, 2010 as LSA Document #09-774(E).

More particularly, the rules provide procedures by which the Director of the Division of Historic Preservation and Archaeology may issue a letter of clearance for projects where the director concludes (a) there are no known state-owned historic sites or structures eligible for or listed in the National or Indiana Registers, (b) there are no non state-owned historic sites or structures listed in the National or Indiana Register in the project area, if the project is funded in whole or in part by the state, (c) there will be no adverse impact on any known state-owned historic site or historic structure that is eligible for inclusion or is listed in the National or Indiana Registers, if the project is funded in whole or in part by the state. The rule provides definitions of terms commonly used in discussing historic sites and structures. It refers to standards and guidelines that are to be used by the Division of Historic Preservation and Archaeology in evaluating whether a project as proposed would have an adverse impact on historic sites or structures. The rule lists the information that must be filed by an agency as part of an application for a certificate of approval. It provides a procedure for notifying interested persons of a determination to grant a letter of clearance and for an interested person to request a public hearing and review of such a determination. The rule provides procedures to be followed by the division and an agency making an application if the division concludes that the project as proposed would have an adverse impact on a historic site or historic structure. Finally, the rule provides that the division shall make a staff comment on a project coming before the Review Board for a certificate of approval and procedures to be followed by the Review Board in considering applications and issuing certificates.

The division shall maintain a list of persons who request, in writing, to receive this notice. Within fifteen (15) days after the division director's determination, an interested person may request a member of the review board to provide public hearing and review under 312 IAC 2-3. The designated member shall issue a determination whether an application for a certificate of approval must be filed. If the designated member determines an application must be filed, the division shall place the completed application on the agenda of the review board's next meeting. If the designated member determines that an application for a certificate is not required, the division director's letter of clearance is affirmed.
